

COVID 19 UPDATE FROM THE OH ZONE TEAM

As an independent art and music venue, we are hoping to expand our events to a larger capacity when the CDPHE and the State of CO allow. We have been spiffing up the joint, and you'll see lots of changes that we have made to keep our patrons safe and properly socially distanced – in our expansive 3,000 square foot, outdoor courtyard.

We know you have been hit up by everyone and their network, to Go-Fund-Something during these extremely challenging times. This post is not to ask for your money, only to consider something.

First and foremost, we appreciate our past customers and we are committed to following the guidelines set regarding the safety of the attendees at our event center. We are taking every precaution to ensure a safe and enjoyable event, that adheres to all guidelines we are given.

Part of our culture at the OH Zone is to host up-and-coming artists, musicians, authors and others who have led workshops, for health and wellness. We support these creative individuals by showcasing the best local talent.

We are now leaning into our mission, vision, values, goals. Our top priority is the comfort and peace of mind of our guests. We have a new strategic plan – and are accelerating its implementation in response to the COVID-19 crisis. While our plan wasn't built with a global pandemic in mind or with the racial injustice that is being protested, it is and always has been centered around inclusion, equity and addressing disparities in our region, by community outreach and support.

We feel strongly that impactful events boost the spirit and keep us healthy mentally. We remain committed to hosting accessible events for our community, while supporting the numerous non-profit organizations, to whom we donate the space to for their fundraising efforts.

Many small businesses are closing their doors. Jobs in the service industry have been drastically cut. Long term restaurants and bars in our area, are shutting their doors for good, after being members of our community for decades. We mourn these losses.

All of us are facing financial pressures, and it looks bleak moving forward. We refuse to give into the grim outlook some are predicting. We are encouraged because, this whole time, it's people like you who have kept us going.

We are part of a small group of small stage venues in CO and we are dedicated to hosting independent music and artists.

All we ask is that if you are looking for a venue for a life celebration, networking event, specialized classroom space, cooking/gardening show or – that you will consider booking our venue for your event.

Please help strengthen and grow our small business in 2020 and beyond. We hope to be able to count on you to join us as part of our creative community, as we continue Edu-taining.

Thank you in advance for considering supporting us. We hope you continue to enjoy events at the OH Zone for years to come.
